Capistrano

Capistrano is a richly textured fabric that takes its inspiration from the thick adobe walls of the ancient Spanish missions scattered along the California coast down into Mexico. These structures provided a cool place in the relentless heat and a place of refuge for travelers and explorers. Capistrano the fabric, is produced by twisting together an unusual selection of fancy yarns and creating a beautiful surface that is soft to the touch. The colors of Capistrano are subtle, using a basically neutral palette and combining it with hints of colors like violet and yellow and pale aqua. The resulting fabric is sophisticated and complex – looking especially at home on larger lounge pieces.
